MAIN ACTIVITIES

I. Integrating gender, leadership and reproductive rights into D3 midwifery curriculum

Together with some women NGOs and Indonesian Midwives Association (IBI), YPKP integrated issues of gender, women’s autonomy, leadership, and reproductive health into midwifery curriculum by developing 9 modules. There were modules for Lecturer and modules for Student.

No.	Module	Integrated into Subject
1	Integration of Gender and Human Rights in Midwifery Care Concept	BD401 (Midwifery Concept)
2	Reproductive Health	BD307 (Reproductive Health)
3	Women and Religion	BD102 (Religion)
4	Reproductive Health Counseling	BD403 (Communication and Counseling)
5	Analysis with Gender Equality Perspective for Community Midwifery	BD305 (Community Midwifery)
6	Management of Autonomy Midwifery Care	BD504 (Organization of Midwifery Care Management)
7	Violence Against Women	BD307 (Reproductive Health)
8	Psychology	BD212 (Psychology)
9	Midwifery Ethics & Health Law	BD402 (Ethicolegal)

II. Managing midwifery scholarship for marginalized women

YPKP managed scholarship for marginalized women from remote area with less prosperous family's background and who had a family relationship with traditional birth attendant to continue education to midwifery diploma program at selected health polytechnics (Poltekkes).

Until 2016, YPKP had provided scholarship to 227 women from 17 provinces in Indonesia in 4 batch.

1st batch: 88 scholars who came from 9 provinces (Jakarta, Banten, West Java, East Java, Riau, Jambi, Bengkulu, West Nusa Tenggara, and East Nusa Tenggara).

2nd batch: 2 scholars who came from South Sulawesi (Selayar Island).

3rd batch After tsunami tragedy in 2007, YPKP with Kapal Perempuan established a program to recover welfare of areas that were affected by tsunami to improve their health situation. YPKP supported in managing the midwifery scholarship for women who came from Nanggroe Aceh Darussalam (NAD) and North Sumatera (Nias). 20 scholars came from NAD and 42 scholars came from North Sumatera.

4th batch: 75 scholars who came from 8 provinces (West Sumatera, Bangka Belitung, Bengkulu, West Sulawesi, Central Sulawesi, Gorontalo, South Sulawesi, East Nusa Tenggara).

III. Conducting training for midwifery teachers

Since August 2003, YPKP has cooperated with midwifery diploma program from 4 health polytechnics in Indonesia (Jakarta III, Bandung, Malang, and Jambi) to integrate 9 modules that were developed by YPKP into midwifery curriculum. Training for teachers were conducted to ensure correctness in applying module to student and teaching method. Teachers were expected can provide knowledge and skills to their students so the students would be midwives who were not only competent in clinical matters but also had high gender sensitivity by considering the existing culture.

Until 2016, YPKP had trained 206 midwifery teachers from 45 midwifery academies:

IV. Providing support for young midwives to improve sexual and reproductive health situation of young people and to encourage male involvement

YPKP assisted young midwives who were YPKP's scholars and conducted several trainings to update and increase their skill and knowledge to increase young people's responsibility and men involvement related to reproductive health and sexuality issues. After attending the training, the midwives were asked to practice their skills to community in their living and working area.

The trainings included both clinical and non-clinical training:

- training of midwife as peer educator for young people
- training for maternal and neonatal emergency
- training of peer educator to increase male involvement in women's health
- training of VIA (visual inspection with acetic acid) test.

V. Replication of YPKP's modules

Since 2011, four Health Polytechnics/Poltekkes that became partners of YPKP (Poltekkes Jakarta III, Poltekkes Jambi, Poltekkes Bandung and Poltekkes Malang) had implemented YPKP's replication program. Each Poltekkes was expected to become a center of information by providing training to minimum of 8 other potential midwifery schools. The topic of training depended on the title of YPKP's modules.

In 2014, two other Poltekkes (Poltekkes Makassar & Poltekkes Padang) joined Replication program. Until 2015, the 6 (sixth) Poltekkes had trained more than 360 lecturers from 107 midwifery schools.

VI. Building young midwives leadership in SRHR

The aim of leadership program was to increase the capacity of young midwives, so that they were not only able to assist delivery safely and comfortably but also able to become health educators and agents of change in the field of SRHR for their community.

YPKP conducted Leadership training in field of SRHR for young midwives under 35 years old. After the training, each participant was asked to apply knowledge and skills in the form of community/peer education, counseling and advocacy.
